Library to close 3 weeks

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus Public Library, currently located adjacent to Romulus City Hall on Wayne Road, is expected to close for three weeks beginning Monday.

The actual move of library books and equipment will begin on Nov. 2 and hopefully will be completed on Nov. 5, City Treasurer James Napiorkowski said Monday.

The temporary library, which will be located in the gymnasium area of Mount Pleasant School located at 39000 Superior (east of Hannan Road), will officially open on Nov. 13, he said.

Library users taking books out now will be given a due date of Nov. 15, Napiorkowski said, to allow them plenty of time to return them. A temporary drop site for books also will be set up at City Hall.

In preparation for the move, workmen have already begun laying carpet at Mount Pleasant School. Upgraded lighting (both indoor and exterior) has also been started by JNG Associates Inc of Plymouth at a cost of about $18,000, Napiorkowski said.

A $50,540 contract has also been awarded to Graebel-Detroit Movers Inc. of Taylor for the four stages of the move. The first is the library move to Mount Pleasant, the second is City Hall offices to be transferred to the library early in March, third is the return trip of City Hall facilities to City Hall and finally the move of the library books and equipment back to the library.

Napiorkowski expects the entire remodeling project and asbestos abatement effort to take about 13 months.

Eleven bids have already been turned in for the expensive asbestos abatement project, he said, and the city building authority is currently studying the bids. The winning bidder may be announced tomorrow.

The library relocation will cause minor problems with voting procedures for Precincts 7 and 11 on Nov. 2. It was expected initially that the polling places would be switched to Barth Elementary School, but election officials said the precincts would simply be moved to another part of Mount Pleasant School.

Maps showing travel routes to Mount Pleasant School will be published in future editions of The Romulus Roman.

Treasurer seeks new term

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

This is the last in a series of stories on candidates slated to appear on the Nov. 2 ballot in Romulus. A wrap-up article on the contested council races will appear in the Oct. 27 edition.

Veteran City Treasurer James Napiorkowski remains hopeful that the state of Michigan will not strip the city treasury of badly needed revenues in 1994.

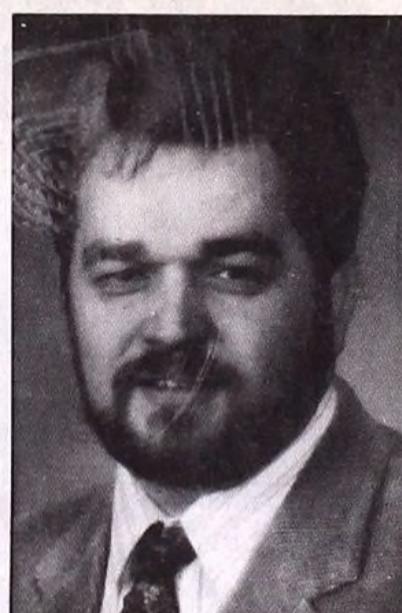

Like many others in city and school board positions across the state, Napiorkowski feels Gov. John Engler's recent tax and school finance reforms have been tax shifts rather than legitimate tax cuts.

"Future legislative actions will give the final proof as to whether the alternative tax system will hurt the residential land owner or industry-business more," he said.

Depending on how the state tax revenue decisions are finalized, Napiorkowski said, Romulus could lose up to 25 percent of present state tax revenues.

"We are extremely concerned," he said, "because the city could also lose another $270,000 in administrative fees based on lower school taxes. That amount alone would pay two weeks of the city payroll."

But on the positive side,

James Napiorkowski

Napiorkowski is proud of the growing number of services his staff can provide the public.

"Soon we will be able to provide a computer for residents to check out their own or neighbors tax payment tables," he said. In addition soon all of his staff will be trained in using word processors so that all letters to residents will be professionally finished on computers.

At the present time, only he and his deputy treasurer Carolyn Smith have such computer equipment. Other staff members use typewriters.

Napiorkowski, 42, who is currently seeking his fourth term, also feels committed to helping local senior citizens and provides many with free homestead and heating credit assistance prior to income tax filing time.

This past year, Napiorkowski said, he helped about 232 senior citizens.

Napiorkowski, who has lived in Romulus for 18 years, was recently sworn in as the new Romulus Kiwanis President. He also is secretary of the Romulus Building Authority, chairman of the Romulus Pension Board and a member of the Romulus Salvation Army Advisory Board.

He also is vice president of the Wayne County Treasurer's Association, member of the board of directors of the Michigan Municipal Treasurer's Association and member of the education committee of the Municipal Treasurer's Association of U.S. and Canada.

Like the other unchallenged incumbents, Napiorkowski hopes that the lack of an opponent in November means that the public appreciates his day-in and day-out dedication to his job.

Injunction sought to block well use

Members of the Romulus City Council in special session Monday night voted to instruct City Attorney Barry Seifman to file for an injunction to block the operation at the planned environmental injection well.

The vote came less than a week after several hundred private citizens met in the Romulus Senior High School auditorium to demand action on blocking any Environmental Protection Agency (EDS) permits to open the well to hazardous liquid injection next year.

The debate on filing an injunction against Environmental Disposal Systems occurred in executive session Monday night. That private session was followed by a brief public council meeting attended by about 35 citizens at which Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron moved that Seifman be ordered to file the request for an injunction against EDS. The motion was supported by Councilman Bill Wadsworth and then unanimously backed by the entire council.

Wadsworth also made a separate motion that letters be sent to both the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and Michigan Department of Natural Resources (DNR) that the council be informed in writing if any future hearings on the well are scheduled.

Also last Friday, less than 48 hours after the informational meeting on the liquid disposal well, city Ordinance Officer Steve Banko informed EDS President Douglas Wicklund that three zoning citations had been filed against the environmental firm for zoning violations.

Banko's letter to Wicklund cited the following:

- EDS has altered the use of the property (via excavations and installed road) without first submitting a site plan and gaining the approval of the Planning Commission.
- EDS has not secured a building permit for the installation (of the well).
- EDS has set up a drilling operation and the area is not secured properly.

Banko also stated in his letter "upon my inspection of the area, this writer observed debris, semi trailers and inoperable vehicles being stored in and about the area."

Banko warned that other actions may follow.

Ex-fire chief dies, rites Thursday

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Long time Romulus Fire Chief Joseph John Crova, 78, died Monday at Park Nursing Home in Taylor.

Mr. Crova, who served as Romulus Fire Chief for 31 years (retiring in 1972), had suffered a massive stroke in November 1991 while in Florida. He resided at his Romulus home until May 1993 when he was transferred to Park Nursing Home.

Mr. Crova's son, Bill, said his father was one of the originators of the Romulus Volunteer Fire Department and was the second fire chief. He also served as local constable for 16 years in the 1940s and 1950s.

Wayne-Westland voters reject millage

Voters in the Wayne-Westland school district denied a 6-mill levy request Monday night by a 60-percent margin against the ballot proposal.

Voter turnout was about average, according to Wayne-Westland Assistant Superintendent of Schools Gary Dell. However, Dell added, the administration was hoping for a lower turnout of voters in general.

Dell explained that the school administrators were hoping for this "lower turnout" because they expected those votes to be in favor of the millage question.

"We were looking for a little smaller turnout. Our campaign was geared toward getting those positive voters out," Dell said.

"We didn't come close to our goal," Dell added. The 6-mill increase levied for one year would have provided an additional $615 in district per-pupil spending. If the millage had been approved, the 6 mills coupled with the state aid increase of $2 to $3 million, would have funded reinstatement of such programs as expressive arts, library clerks, transportation, learning consultants, school nurses, co-op program, instrumental music program, senior citizen program, new district textbooks and supplies among many other programs and services cut from the 1993/94 budget.

Voters may have turned down the proposal because district administrators have already restored 50 percent of the librarians and all learning consultants with the funding expected from the State Aid Bill. In addition, complete restoration of secondary transportation and elementary expressive arts should begin Oct. 25 and if funding permits, the remaining 50 percent of librarians will be restored Nov. 1 with state aid funding.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Larry Thomas said he was not surprised by the millage failure, and intends to try to change the proposed school state financing bill proposed.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Craft, pancake sale is planned

The annual craft sale and pancake supper of the Ball Road Church is planned from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Nov. 20, 1993.

Tickets for the "all you can eat" supper cost $4 for adults and $2 for children.

The church is located at 7007 Ball Road, just off Ecorse Road. For further information call 699-7508.

Writer's son in Haiti crisis

Marine Private First Class Gene Post, son of Al Post, staff writer of The Romulus Roman, has joined the U.S. military blockade effort off Haiti.

Post was informed Saturday night that his son's marine unit had left North Carolina for Haiti on Friday, about the time President Clinton was telling the national media of the latest U.S. military deployment.

Former coach to visit school

Former Albion College Football and baseball coach Morley Fraser will be speaking to a large group of students at Romulus Senior High School at 8 a.m. Monday.

Fraser, a motivational speaker who has appeared before top pro team players such as the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears, will speak on "Ex- cited about the Future."

On Sunday Fraser also will speak twice before members of the Community United Methodist Church. At the 11 a.m. religious service, Fraser will speak on "The Lost Sheep" and at 7 p.m. he will talk on "The End is Better than the Beginning."

Fraser's appearances in Romulus are being sponsored by the church men's club.

City awards pair of bids

The City Council has awarded bids for the purchase of six self-contained breathing apparatus and a copy machine.

The breathing apparatus purchased from West Shore Service Inc. for the fire department cost $8,430 and the copy machine was purchased from Diversified Business Products for $6,490.

Speed limit hiked to 35 MPH

Despite strong objections from Councilman Ellis Pennington, the City Council has hiked speeds along Goddard Road between Wayne and Grant roads to 35 miles per hour.

The speed had been posted as 25 miles per hour. The change was moved by Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron and seconded by Councilman William Wadsworth.

Pennington complained the speed increase could cause serious accidents near the Romulus IGA parking lot or the Landing Strip facility.

The speed limit hike will be reviewed in three months.

Rotarians honor district judges

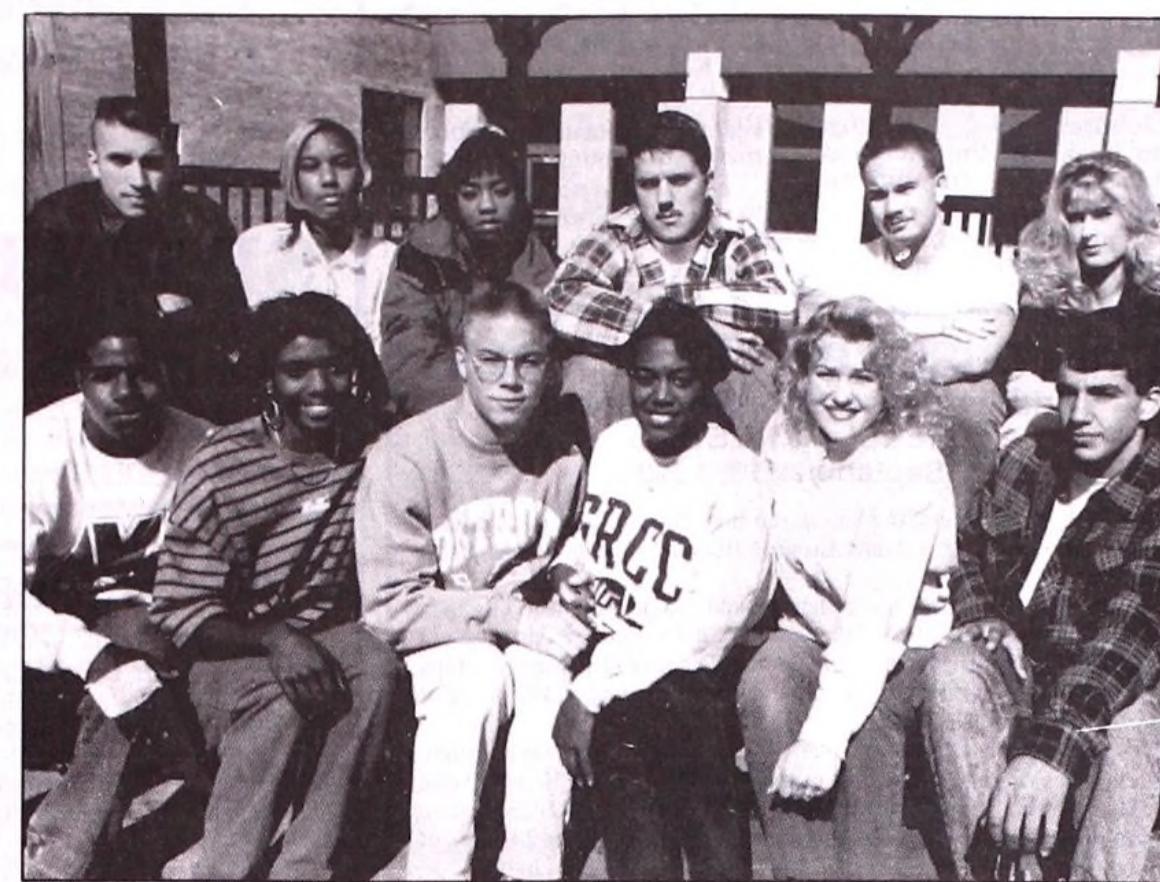

Three 34th District Court judges will be honored for their services to the community at an Oct. 26 Belleville Rotary Club dinner meeting.

Judges William Szlinis, Henry Zaborowski and Felix Rogalle will be presented with Rotary four-way test banners for their courtrooms and certificates of recognition by the Rotarians.

Special speaker for the meeting will be Michigan Supreme Court Justice Conrad Mallett Jr., who will address issues of importance in judicial and legal areas in the state and nation.

The Belleville Rotary Club meets at 6:15 p.m. Tuesdays for a dinner meeting in the fellowship hall of the Belleville United Methodist Church.

Interested individuals may make dinner reservations for the Oct. 26 meeting by calling 699-4678.

On the record 4 did not oppose well proposal

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

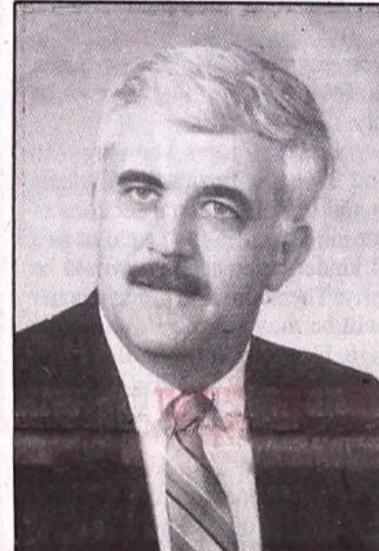

Veteran City Councilman William Wadsworth continues to say his fellow councilmen should have followed his lead in December 1990 and rejected a resolution that said Romulus would "affirmatively assist" the liquid waste well operation, now so strongly opposed by local citizens.

Official city council minutes from Dec. 10, 1990 printed in The Romulus Roman reveal that only Wadsworth, Russell Lambert and Randy Gear opposed the council resolution.

The legal action entitled "Acknowledgement of Proposed Class 1 Commercial Disposal Well" was introduced with a motion by Councilman Ellis Pennington and supported by then Councilman Junior Block.

The resolution also won the support of Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron and Jimmie Raspberry. The motion was carried by a 4-3 vote.

Pennington last Wednesday night urged his fellow councilmen "don't never lie to the people. We were never called upon to vote 'yes' or 'no' on the well issue being located in Ro-

William Wadsworth

Wadsworth said the minutes speak for themselves. He admits the vote was not an open invitation to operate a well here, but said a strong stance against this resolution "would have sent EDS packing."

The resolution advised everyone that Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. (EDS) intended to build a Class 1 well in Romulus and the project would be regulated by the Environmental Protection

At the meeting last Wednesday, outgoing Councilman Russ Lambert urged those opposing the well "stand-up and file an injunction to stop the well project. Don't rely on government's help."

Even Community Development Director Jane Downing warned EDS that "Romulus is proud to be known as 'The Gateway to the World' and has no interest in becoming known as the 'Wasteway of the World.'

"Many persons who have spoken out against the well tonight have a vested interest in this city and their view should not be taken lightly," Downing on information. Paul J. White, 35, from Ypsilanti, and Evette Shelby, 38, from Inkster, are expected to appear for a disposition conference Oct. 20.

All three defendants were arrested by Wayne police for allegedly taking $20 from two local residents, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

Romulus man held for murder

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Deputy News Editor

A Nov. 5 calendar conference has been scheduled for a Romulus man charged with open murder before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Thomas Jackson.

William Mario Johnson, 25, was arrested and charged with the murder of Wayne resident Marvin Steiner. Steiner's body was found wrapped in a mattress on Belle Isle Sept. 4. He was clothed but had no identification, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

Bond was not set for Johnson during the Sept. 22 examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Prosecuting attorney Charles Sellers and defense attorney Angela Palmieri presided over the case.

During the examination, Sellers informed Archbold that Robert Vass found Steiner's body. He also stated that a dentist was able to match teeth marks found on the defendant to Steiner.

Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson was called to the witness stand to describe the interrogation process Sept. 9 with the defendant which was conducted at the Wayne Police Department.

Johnson said the interrogation began in the afternoon and continued through the evening hours.

"We continued the interrogation until 6:40 p.m.," Johnson said. "At that time we stopped because it is our policy for our people to be able to get something to eat. He talked to me freely. The interrogation continued at 10:30 p.m. and lasted until 12:30 a.m. Sept. 10."

Sellers then read part of the statement Johnson provided to the Wayne sergeant during the interrogation.

"I was behind him and had him in a headlock," Sellers read. "I wrapped a fan cord two times around his neck. I saw his head turning blue. I unwrapped it right away."

From the statement, Sellers informed Archbold that an argument allegedly occurred outside of Steiner's home in Wayne. When Steiner went inside his home, Johnson followed, according to the statement.

Johnson was arraigned in an out county court Sept. 12.

A missing persons report was filed in Wayne after police received information about a body being found on Belle Isle.

Drews said police were able to identify Steiner when his brother called to report him missing.

If the Romulus man is found guilty of open murder, he could receive mandatory life in prison, according to Drews.

Romulus Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell told Michigan House Education Committee members Thursday, "If you really want a world class school system, fewer prisons and a better trained labor force work with us to reform the current taxation and educational systems."

Therefore, the city statement continued "be it resolved that the City Council will abide by the findings" of the EPA and DNR when not in conflict with local laws and regulations.

In conclusion the resolution stated, "Be it further resolved that the city will affirmatively assist the project by its review and approval, if appropriate, of any required site plans and will actively monitor the construction and operation of the project."

At the meeting last Wednesday night, EDS President Douglas Wicklund admitted only limited sessions had occurred to date with the city on any such planned "royalties" from the planned operation.

A Nov. 5 calendar conference has been scheduled for a Romulus man charged with open murder before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge Thomas Jackson.

William Mario Johnson, 25, was arrested and charged with the murder of Wayne resident Marvin Steiner. Steiner's body was found wrapped in a matress on Belle Isle Sept. 4. He was clothed but had no identification, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

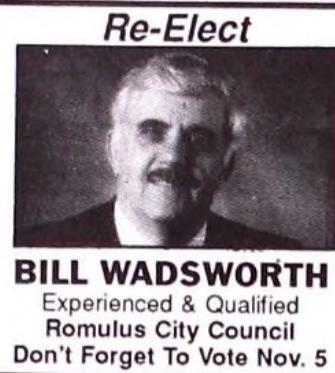

Bond was not set for Johnson during the Sept. 22 examination before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold.

Prosecuting attorney Charles Sellers and defense attorney Angela Palmieri presided over the case.

During the examination,

Sellers informed Archbold that Robert Vass found Steiner's Body. He also stated that a dentist was able to match teeth marks found on the defendant to Steiner.

Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson was called to the witness stand to describe the interrogation process Sept. 9 with the defendant which was conducted at the Wayne Police Department.

Johnson said the interrogation began in the afternoon and continued through the evening hours.

A missing persons report was filed in Wayne after police received information about a body being found on Belle Isle.

Drews said police were able to identify Steiner when his brother called to report him missing.

VAN BUREN PUBLIC SCHOOLS Minutes of the Board of Education REGULAR MEETING September 13, 1993

The Regular Meeting of the Van Buren Board of Education was held in the Board Room of the Administration Building on Monday, September 13, 1993 at 7:30 p.m.

Members present: Jere Dolph, Sharry Budd, David Peer, Karl Gorham, Martha Toth, Susan Ward Callahan and Sherry Frazier. Also present were Superintendent James Richendollar, Director of Business Affairs Jack Hosmer, Director of Instruction Douglas Brown, and Director of Personnel Raymond Kohr.

The meeting was called to order at 7:30 p.m. by President Dolph. Certificates of Appreciation from the Michigan School Food Service Association cooperatively with the Michigan Department of Education were presented to Ruth Bogardus and Connie Waddell for 24 years of Food Service.

Certificates of Appreciation were presented to Rawsonville teachers Carol Brown and Carol Thorne who spent the summer working with young people on their own time.

The minutes of the meetings of August 9, 1993; August 16, 1993; and August 23, 1993 were reviewed. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that the minutes be approved as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Citizens addressed the board regarding school finance, split classes, and sex education classes for sixth graders at South Middle School. Regarding the sex education issue, Mr. Richendollar recommended that we continue to apprise parents as to what the course consists of and refer the matter to the district Physical Education/Health Education Committee, the district Health Education Advisory Committee, the Board's Curriculum Committee, and then to the full Board. Sharry Budd to serve on committee along with Sherry Frazier and David Peer. Parents present invited to serve on the committee also.

The financial reports for the period ending June 30, 1993 and August 31, 1993 were reviewed. Motion by Sharry Budd, supported by Martha Toth, that the financial reports be approved as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

The bills for the month of August were reviewed. Motion by Susan Ward Callahan, supported by Martha Toth, that the bills be paid as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Raymond Kohr presented current enrollment figures showing 116 more kindergartners than projected and 39 more elementary students in grades. He requested permission to add three additional sections of kindergarten and one additional teacher in the grades for a total of two and one-half positions. The additional kindergarten sections would be at Rawsonville, Edgemont, and Haggerty. The additional grade teacher would be at Edgemont. One teacher will be moved from Rawsonville to Savage to reduce class sizes at Savage. If approved by the Board, all changes would be in place by Friday, September 17. Discussion was held regarding class sizes. Motion by Sherry Frazier to not disband the one class at Rawsonville School. Motion failed due to lack of support. Motion by Jere Dolph, supported by Susan Ward Callahan, that two and one-half positions be added per the recommendation of Raymond Kohr. Roll call vote: Ayes: Callahan, Peer, Toth, Gorham, Budd, Dolph. Nays: Frazier. Motion carried.

Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the following replacement teachers be hired: Craig Rafail (Edgemont-Physical Education) beginning September 1, 1993 and Cynthia Neubauer (Elementary-Special Education) beginning September 1, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Karl Gorham, that Debora Smith be hired as a specialized aide (LPN) for transportation beginning September 1, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

Raymond Kohr presented the 1993-94 Coaching Positions for approval. Sharry Budd asked if her concern regarding Baseball was addressed by the Board's Extracurricular Committee. Matter was addressed and no disparity found. Mike Colletta, Athletic Supervisor, is working on a new general policy on athletics but will start the school year with the current athletic code and implement the new one when adopted. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Karl Gorham, that the 1993-94 coaching positions be approved as presented. Roll call vote: Ayes: Callahan, Peer, Toth, Frazier, Gorham, Dolph. Nays: Budd. Motion carried.

Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sharry Budd, that request for termination from Robert Queener (Vocational Education Technical Aide) be accepted effective June 18, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Susan Ward Callahan, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the following food service workers be hired: Renee Harris (North) beginning September 14, 1993 and Pamela Drago (High School) beginning September 14, 1993. Motion carried unanimously.

Superintendent James Richendollar presented three request from parents requesting a release letter for their children to attend the Ypsilanti School District (Saxon Govender, Cheryl Hardrick, and Mr. & Mrs. Ronald Higgs). One parent, Saxon Govender, would withdraw his request if his child could attend Edgemont School for his elementary education. Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Susan Ward Callahan, that release letters be granted. Motion carried unanimously.

Raymond Kohr presented 1993-94 School Year Attendance Area Exceptions for approval.

Motion by Sharry Budd, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the request from the Boys and Girls Bible Clubs for use of Tyler Elementary School for an after-school bible club for the 1993-94 school year be approved. Motion carried unanimously.

Non-Smoking Policy was presented for review and adoption at the next meeting.

MASB Board Policies Section K will be reviewed at the September 27 meeting and Plante Moran will be in attendance at the October 4 special meeting.

The Finance Committee met and revised the travel expense report form (copies distributed). Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, to adopt the revised travel expense report form as presented by the Finance Committee. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Martha Toth, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the meeting be recessed and the Board go into executive session for the purpose of discussing negotiations. Motion carried unanimously. Meeting recessed at 10:55 p.m.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Sharry Budd, that the executive session be adjourned and return to the regular meeting. Motion carried unanimously. Executive session adjourned at 11:05 p.m.

Motion by Sherry Frazier, supported by Susan Ward Callahan, to grant the Superintendent a 3% salary improvement as was approved for all the other contracts. Motion carried unanimously.

Motion by Susan Ward Callahan, supported by Sherry Frazier, that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried unanimously. Regular Meeting adjourned at 11:05 p.m.

Justice delayed

Last week, the office of Michigan State Attorney Frank Kelley refused to disclose to The Associated Newspapers the findings of an investigation at the 34th District Court requested under the provisions of the Open Meetings Act.

Chief Assistant Attorney General Stanley D. Steinborn denied the request for the findings of the court audit as the report is "being reviewed by attorneys in our criminal division." Steinborn added that attorneys had determined that release of the audit findings could jeopardize the ongoing criminal procedures in the matter.

That denial speaks volumes, we feel, but still does not satisfy the needs of the community or demonstrate the best use of taxpayers' money which funds the court. After more than eight months, the audit should have been made public and those who live under the shadow of these vague criminal procedures and the smear of such suspicion should either be charged or exonerated.

The judges, the employees and all those affiliated with the court deserve better than this ongoing "review". We understand that the wheels of justice turn very, very slowly, but in this case, the squeak of those laboriously grinding wheels is causing a hardship on those being investigated and those who are paying the cost of both the investigation and the operation of the court.

Two employees were on paid leave of absence during the first six months of the audit—and while one of them has now resigned, the other continues to be on a paid leave. And there is, to date, still no public exoneration or charge of any individual involved.

Those who depend on the court for the meting out of justice deserve better. Those who work at the court and who are responsible for the very course of lives with their daily actions and decisions deserve and have certainly earned better than to continue to live under this shadow of suspicion and doubt. And those responsible for the day-to-day operation of the court deserve better than to wonder each day whether the investigation may point at them or their immediate supervisor.

Each day, local police officers enter this court seeking to have justice handed down from the bench. How much longer can these men and women live with this black cloud over the entire system of jurisprudence—and what impact has the gossip and suspicion already had on their ability to do their job?

If there are criminal charges to be answered—if the audit has uncovered wrongdoing—everyone involved deserves to know. If there are to be formal accusations, those accused deserve the right to answer those allegations. If there is no basis for such charges, then the sanctity of the court needs to be restored with a full disclosure so that there can be no doubt of the integrity of the procedures and decisions made there.

But this creaking wheel of doubt and conjecture must be stopped before the damage to all involved is irreparable.

Justice delayed is justice denied—from both sides of the bench.

A painful lesson

While the outcome of the millage election in the Wayne-Westland school district Monday was easily predictable, we find it very sad.

And, while the demeanor and opinion of the public is understandable, we had hoped for a different result. Since that did not happen, we are hoping the present school board and members of the administrative staff will be able to cope with the devastating consequences.

It won't be easy. Faced with the present economic climate, the uncertainty of the state funding plans and the general mistrust and doubt of most of the community, these people have a tremendous task ahead of them. Fiscal management of any business is a challenge to the most experienced and skilled in finance today—and these individuals are faced with union wage contracts, tradition, and established procedures which are next to impossible to change—but change they must if they are to succeed in educating the children of this district.

This election was a sad lesson, indeed, in the reality of the faith the public has in those they elected to represent them.

Firm pledges to be good neighbor

To the editor:

While your story on residents' criticism of our Romulus Deepwell project was accurate, some clarification is necessary. It has always been our goal and practice at Environmental Disposal Systems, Inc. to make fully available all timely and accurate information regarding our project. We did not refuse to answer questions the city council meeting. We indicated before and during the meeting that our purpose was to listen carefully to the concerns expressed by those in attendance so that we could obtain definitive and complete answers to their questions for the benefit of all Romulus residents.

To that end, we had already committed prior to the Sept. 27 city council meeting to hold a public meeting to which all the citizens of Romulus would be invited. We have since scheduled this meeting in the Romulus High School Auditorium.

From the time this project was initiated three years ago and through the construction of the well, we have been very open about it. Protection of the environment through environmentally safe and responsible disposal of industrial liquids is the single overriding objective of EDS and its people.

The tests conducted at the Romulus deepwell indicate that the facility exceeds the forecast of the University of Michigan geological study which was conducted to determine its safety and effectiveness. In fact, the Romulus site is as safe, or safer than the existing Class I wells which have been operating in Michigan for more than 20 years.

We have followed all of the public disclosure requirements set forth by the United States Environmental Protection Agency and the Michigan Department of Natural Resources (these agencies have issued permits for us to proceed with this project). In addition, we have taken the initiative to inform our neighbors about the project. For example:

• We have maintained regular contact with Romulus city officials to keep them well informed of our progress;

LETTERS

• We help an informational meeting on July 13, to which we invited members of city council, members of the planning commission and members of the board of appeals;

• We have provided detailed media information kits to the newspapers serving the Romulus community (in fact, at least two major stories on our project have run in The Romulus Roman);

• We have distributed more than 200 information packages on the project;

• We have provided tours of the project to all residents who have requested them and we continue to offer tours to anyone who requests them;

• We have produced a video describing the technology which will be used at the Romulus deepwell facility and have made this video available to educational groups and other interested organizations.

We recognize that we need to do more. We intend to be responsible corporate citizens in Romulus and we will continue to seek the input of Romulus residents as the project develops. We are also expanding and intensifying our community outreach efforts and we encourage Romulus residents to call us at 955-2100 with any concerns or comments they have. The EPA has stated that deepwells such as the one planned for Romulus as "safer than virtually all other waste disposal practices." We see our project as a safe, effective alternative to a serious problem in our country, and we will be pleased to discuss it with anyone who cares to listen to us.

Newspaper receives thanks

To the editor:

Just a short note to express our thanks to The Associated Newspapers for your help in publicizing the Michigan Humane Society's Fall Mutt March on Sept. 18.

We had 276 marchers plus their friends (both two and four-legged) who participated in this year's march. They raised over $40,000 in pledges for the animals cared for at MHS's three area shelters.

The furry marchers all looked sharp in their gray bandanas that said, "I've got my tail in gear for the Michigan Humane Society."

All in all it was a very successful event for the society and the animals for whom it provides care.

Our thanks once again for your invaluable assistance in helping to make the march a success.

Political history chronicled

To the editor:

As a former Westland City Councilman, it disturbs me greatly when I witness current city officials who are candidates for office "lie" to the public about their records. I have watched and read accounts of the recent mayoral debates and was astonished to hear some of the statements made by incumbent councilmen Pickering and Mehl. In particular, Chuck Pickering is attempting to rewrite the history books in an attempt to erase the fact that he was the least effective and most controversial mayor in recent history. His recollection of his stint in office is quite different than I remember.

I laughed while watching the debates at the list of things Pickering took credit for. In his quest to "change his spots", Mr. Pickering forgets that headlines from the local papers at that time have documented his poor performance and would/will back up statements that are made in this letter.

What prompted me to write was the fact that Pickering took full credit for the construction of the Senior Friendship Center. Nothing could be farther from the truth. As council president at the time, I had the privilege of serving on a committee that investigated and recommended renovation plans of the center to the mayor and council. Senior citizens, residents, council members, and members of the administration were part of this team. As mayor, Chuck Pickering fought every proposal tooth and nail. He was against any expansion of the Friendship Center and the programs and services contained within. If it wasn't for dedicated individuals like Frank Moore, Jack Hickey, Howard Waldrop, Margaret Luchewski, Sylvia Kozorosky, Bob Wagner, Gene Hudson, myself and many others who recognized the need for increased services and who pushed these proposals, Mr. Pickering would have done nothing.

Don't believe me? Well, here are some excerpts from a Westland Eagle article dated Dec. 8, 1983 entitled "Official push, council directs mayor to act on senior center expansion."

"The resolution, presented by Councilman Robert Wagner, was the result of a lack of progress on the part of the mayor to begin work on the expansion...as approved five months ago."

"If the administration had not dragged its feet..." Wagner added. "It's been five months, and not one thing has been done."

"The mayor has expressed concerns about the expansion..." I don't think this is the way to go" he said in an interview this week."

So despite Mr. Pickering's attempts during the debates to rewrite Westland's history, Westland residents know the truth and won't be fooled by his distortion of the facts.

Seniors defend center leader

To the editor:

In reference to the campaign debate of Sept. 8, 1993, on Westland's WLNC Channel 8, Chuck Pickering emphatically stated if he is elected Mayor he would change the leadership at the Friendship Center.

Why Mr. Pickering?

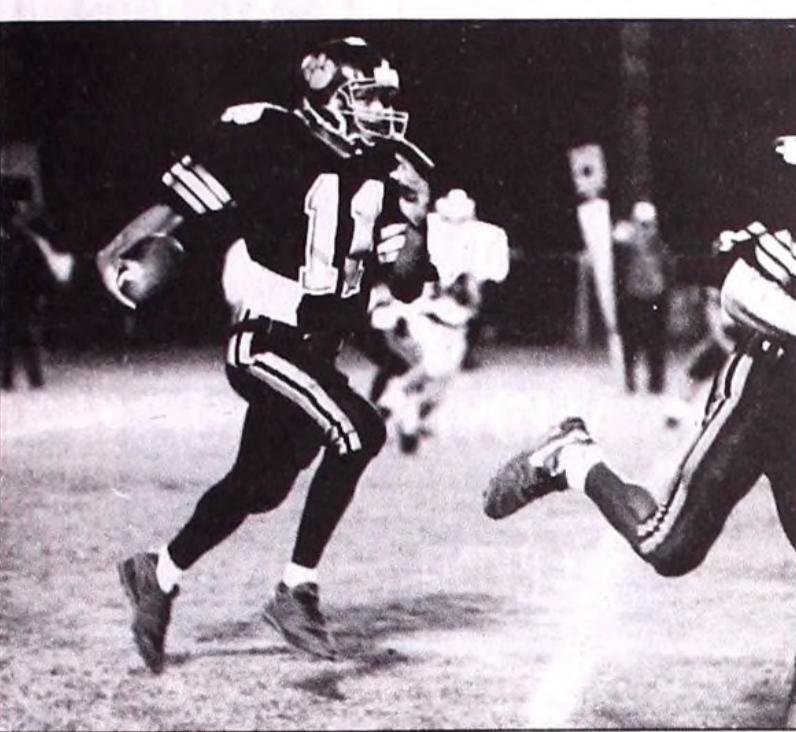

Since you stated your campaign is based on leadership, did you, because of your instability, make this statement or are you being influenced politically?

You are certainly not portraying true professional lead-

Belleville runs wild against Wayne

Belleville High School senior quarterback Ralph Truitt (11) gets protection from teammate Ian Gold and finds the running room against Wayne Memorial. Belleville High School players turned in their best overall performance of the 1993 football campaign for visiting Wayne Memorial and one of the largest crowds to attend a Tiger homecoming game in recent years.

Coach Bob LaPointe and the Tigers turned back their former Wolverine "A" Conference rivals, Wayne, 34-6, for their fifth victory in six starts. Their lone loss in the conference is to undefeated league leader, Dearborn Fordson (6-1).

Belleville moved up into second place with its fifth win in the newly-aligned Mega Conference Red Division.

"They came to play," said Wayne coach Chuck Howton, whose Zebras will leap from the proverbial frying pan into the fire Friday night when they take on league-leading Fordson.

"They (Belleville) dominated us at the line of scrimmage, and that's where it counts the most."

into the end zone for a 3-yard TD.

Wayne came back and cut the Belleville lead to 13-6 as quarterback Lorenzo Guess engineered a 62-yard sustained drive that culminated with runningback Reggie McCarthy's 1-yard touchdown run.

Belleville answered the score with its third touchdown, thanks to a poor Wayne punt that put the hosts deep in Zebras territory. With 39 seconds left in the initial half, Speller again came through for the Tigers with an up-the-middle 1-yarder that gave Belleville a 20-6 cushion.

However, it was a punt return by Truitt that ended Wayne's hopes of spoiling Belleville's homecoming festivities.

Truitt came up with a 78-yard return in the third quarter that widened the gap and gave the Tigers an overwhelming lead. Then, in the fourth, Gold came through with a 11-yard touchdown run that sealed the victory.

The Zebras had plenty of reasons to be frustrated. Their freshman quarterback put several passes that were right on target, but dropped. Guess finished with only five completions in 22 attempts.

Wayne also had four turnovers, including three interceptions and a fumble that proved fatal.

It's John Glenn vs. Harrison for conference title

One - and only one - obstacle remains between undefeated and fourth-ranked state power, Westland John Glenn High School, and the 1993 Western Lakes Conference championship.

And that obstacle - Farmington Harrison - is a big one.

The two teams will meet at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in Westland to decide the championship.

Glenn, with an impeccable 7-0 record after extracting a 14-0 decision out of the mud at North Farmington last Saturday, captured the Lakes Division title, while Harrison comes into the title game representing the Western Division with an overall 6-1 record.

In their crossover game earlier this year, coach Chuck Gordon and the Rockets shot down Harrison 24-19. But that victory cost Glenn the services of outstanding senior Matt Howton who suffered a broken collar bone in that confrontation. Howton had two long touchdown runs in the victory.

After their first - and only loss - Harrison has gone on to string together five straight victories to earn the rematch with the Westlanders.

Gordon said then and hasn't changed his mind that Harrison is an outstanding team.

The Rockets had their problems launching their offense against an also-ran North on Saturday. Torrential rains earlier in the day had made the playing field in Farmington Hills more suitable for swimming than football.

But Glenn managed to survive the elements.

Wayne finds a 'Home'

Wayne Memorial High School swimmers apparently have found a comfortable home in the White Division of the Mega Conference.

The Zebras, under first-year-coach Greg Cooper, have won all five of their conference meets and are boasting an enviable 5-1 overall record after losing a 107-79 out-of-league decision to natural rival Westland John Glenn.

Cooper, a former Belleville High All-area swimmer who coached at Belleville for eight years before moving to St. Joseph, returned to the area last August to accept a teaching-coaching assignment with the Wayne-Westland schools.

"It seems a bit strange coaching at Wayne after all these years at Belleville High," said Cooper. "But it's a real pleasure being back here."

Cooper launched his coaching career at Wayne with a 106-56 victory over Southgate Anderson. Then, the Zebras went on and turned back Garden City, 130-50, before the Westlanders handed Wayne its first loss. Wayne also has dunked Thurston (122-63) and edged Allen Park 50-43.

The Zebras have a strong nucleus of young swimmers. Among the 1993 leaders are tri-captains Jodie Garlough, Tiffany Morningstar and Elysia Rodriguez. Versatile ninth grader Sybil Henderson also has contributed to the success of the team.

At the recently-staged invitational, Wayne finished third (256) behind invitational champ, Wyandotte, which garnered 353 points. Glenn was second with 268 points and, following Wayne, were Livonia

In one week the Bulldogs plummeted from the top of the SAC to the bottom. Their first three wins of the season were forfeited because of an ineligible player, and two successive losses - to Highland Park and a 9-6 setback last week to Willow Run dashed all the Robichaud dreams of a SAC title

"It sure hurts - one week you're on top; the next week on the bottom," said Yauck.

With 5:10 left in the first quarter, Robichaud got on the board against Willow Run when quarterback Matt Alexander completed a 32-yard pass to Brett Kubitz.

The Flyers came back with a double-pass, 62-yard touchdown play to tie the game and they also cashed in a Bulldog fumble - their fourth - in the last period to kick a 36-yard field goal to win it.

Local harriers gear up for league title races

With the dual meet season behind them, local and area runners will begin their quests for conference and regional cross country honors.

On Saturday, the newly-organized Mega Conference will stage the inaugural conference championships at Cass Benton Park. Simultaneously, at the same site but at a different starting time, the Western Lakes Conference will conduct a title run.

In the Mega Conference (Red Division), Monroe, the last Wolverine "A" Conference champ, remains the team to catch, according to Sam Vicchy, Belleville High School coach.

"Monroe has an excellent team," said Vicchy. "They definitely have the team to beat. Realistically, we're not a key factor this year because we are a young team. The conference championships will be an excellent tune-up for next week's regional."

Belleville will try to qualify runners from the regional at the Highlands located in Riverview.

In the meantime, the Plymouth-Canton girls' and boys' teams have their sights set on the Western Lakes Conference titles. The Chiefs have the No. 1 women's team in the state, according to the latest state rankings and, on Saturday, they'll have an opportunity to prove it.

Westland John Glenn High School and coach Jess Shough hosted their annual invitational for freshmen and sophomores. Ten men's teams lined up to compete for the invitational crown, and Ann Arbor Huron captured first place.

The River Rats compiled 65 points, beating out Redford Catholic Central, which was second with 73. Dearborn Edsel Ford finished third (82), followed by Dearborn (98).

Michigan credit unions are a secret success story

Credit unions have been called the "secret success story" of the financial world. While crisis after crisis rocked the financial industry over the past decade and stories of junk bonds, leveraged buyouts, corporate takeovers and third world debt filled the news, the quiet little credit unions kept chugging along, serving their members and keeping their house in order.

Credit unions don't chase round the world seeking the highest return on their money. They exist to serve their members. So the money deposited

The distribution of loans from Michigan credit unions was 36.6 percent in general consumer loans, 33.6 percent in auto loans and 29.4 percent in home mortgages.

in Michigan credit unions didn't go to finance real estate developments in Texas or luxury apartments in Brazil, it went to work in your community to help ordinary people buy homes and cars, to send kids to college and to provide a little breathing space for working people.

Yet, despite these modest goals, the combined assets of Michigan credit unions topped $13 billion last year and 3.6 million people in this state belonged to a credit union. That's almost 40 percent of the population.

As always, credit unions were focused on the needs of individual citizens. The distribution of loans from Michigan credit unions was 36.6 percent in general consumer loans, 33.6 percent in auto loans and 29.4 percent in home mortgages. Only 0.4 percent fell into the commercial category and those were primarily agricultural loans.

What's more important, surveys done by the banking industry continue to show that credit unions set the pace in consumer satisfaction.

vey taken by The American Banker revealed that while consumer satisfaction with financial institutions in general was falling, 77 percent of credit union members stated they were "very satisfied" with their credit unions compared with 57 percent of bank customers.

HAPPY HAUNTING

Halloween ghosts and ghouls haunt area

As Halloween approaches, the annual haunting of houses and forests reaches a peak.

Ghosts, ghouls and goblins - along with witches, skeletons and demons - take up residence in otherwise peaceful areas with the purpose of producing thrills and chills for visitors.

Belleville Area

The Haunted Forest, located at Van Buren Park, begins with a wagon ride to a maze, followed by a walk through the forest. Cost is $3 for adults and $2 for those 12 and younger. Concessions are on site. Hours are 7 to 10 p.m. Thursdays and Sundays and 7 to 11 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays. The forest will be open this weekend and Oct. 22-24 and 28-30.

Trick-or-treating in both downtown Belleville and the Lakewood Shopping Center is scheduled on Oct. 29 at 6 p.m.

Sumpter Township

The Pumpkin Factory, located at 48651 Harris Road, west of Sumpter Road, features hayrides through the Haunted Farm from 4 to 8:30 p.m. on weekdays and from 10:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on weekends through Oct. 31. Scary adventures await the visitors at eight different sites.

In addition, the Pumpkin Factory has outdoor displays, a small animal exhibit, and traditional fall treats - pumpkin pie, candy and caramel apples plus cider and doughnuts.

Inkster

The traditional "haunted house" in Inkster will again open its doors to children during that scariest evening of the year - Halloween.

Recreation officials said that the goblins are busy building the house, presently invisible, at the Inkster Recreation Department. Officials are also inviting children, in kindergarten to sixth grade, to meet the ghosts and goblins and any other extraterrestrial that happens to make it to earth for the celebration.

The doors to the Haunted House will open at 6 p.m. and close at 8 p.m.

"Of course there will be plenty of treats - and maybe some tricks," said Ron Wolkowicz, parks and recreation director. "This - and our annual Christmas Caroling program - are among our most busiest nights."

Wolkowicz urged parents of small children to take the opportunity of getting their kids off the streets and putting them into a game-filled, fun-filled and safe environment."

If you need further information about Halloween Night activities in Inkster, contact the Inkster Parks and Recreation Department at 728-7530.

Nankin Mills

An outdoor Halloween event for children 4 to 12 is being sponsored by the Wayne County Park System at Nankin Mills between 1 and 3 p.m. Oct. 30.

Featured at the Halloween Festival will be a magician, puppet show, candy hunt and the appearance of "Fred the Smooch," an 11-foot-tall costume character. A hayride and children's games also are on the agenda.

Children are requested to wear costumes and participate in a parade of costumes. Prizes will be awarded for the most original costumes in each age group.

Registration is required by Oct. 21 by calling 261-1990.

Decorations put fright into Halloween night

For those of you who are looking for some scary Halloween decorations this year, but are not quite sure what to do, here are some decorating suggestions for the bit of ghoul in all of us.

Set the tone for what awaits the trick-or-treaters inside your home with some fog and webbing. Smoke can be created by using dry ice, hot water and a fan. Someone will need to be on standby to drip hot water onto the dry ice, and position the fan towards the entryway.

For a chilling effect, the entryway can be lit with luminous bags and a glow-in-the-dark skeleton. A large spider web could be added to give the home a non-lived-in effect.

Hanging bats and a Grim Reaper are also good ideas for entrance way or in-house decorations and are simple to make as well.

To create hanging bats, find a long sturdy branch with plenty of stems, or add several twigs to the top of the branch. Age it with spider webbing and dangle bats and other creatures from the twigs.

To make a Grim Reaper, take a chair and drape it with a black table cloth. On top of a milk crate or box, stuff a witches gown or cape with newspaper, creating the body and arms. Let the gown drape over the box to create the illusion of legs. For the head, insert a long stick into the neck and position a mask on top of the stick. For an added effect, place creepy objects on the Reaper with a long stick or cane nearby.

Now, you're ready to put a scare into the trick-or-treaters or startle your guests at a Halloween party.

system and begin the first phase of the restoration process," Welch said. "So far we have had a new roof constructed as well as a major cleanup inside."

Cost to renovate the theater is a little more than $2 million, according to Welch.

The first phase involved a contract with Carmine Petrilli, consulting architect, and George Williams, mechanical engineer.

Petrilli and Williams developed schematic plans for the Wayne Historic Theater and estimated cost construction for the renovation process.

Westland

"Fright Fest" is the theme of the Wayne-Westland YMCA Annual Haunted House, located in the "Barn," at 827 S. Wayne Road in Westland, 1/2 mile south of Cherry Hill.

The House involves months of planning, then construction and 25 plus monsters working every night the house is open.

The charge is $5 for the evening house, with the special Sunday price of $4. If a wrapper from McDonald's French Fries or a coupon from the YMCA bulletin or flyer is presented, there is a $1 savings on the admission fee.

The Haunted House will open at 7 p.m. Oct. 16. The house is open Oct. 16, 17, 18 and 22 and through Halloween from 7 p.m. to 12 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays and 7 to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday.

For those youngsters afraid to go in the Haunted House, the YMCA offers the Friendly Monsters alternative.

"We turn on the lights in the Haunted House and the children who walk through receive candy from the monsters, who are not wearing masks," YMCA Office Manager Pauline King said.

After the Friendly Monster tour, the children are taken inside the YMCA building to decorate cookies with frosting and have a snack. King said the response to the Friendly Monsters has been exceptional, with some 400 children attending the event last year. Friendly Monsters admission is $2 per child ages 2 through 12, with each child entitled to one free adult. All others are $2. McDonald's Characters and McGuides will lead the youngsters through a "friendly" trip to the house. All children will receive Halloween treats.

"Friendly Monsters" are offered from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. each Saturday until Halloween. The event will be open Sunday, Halloween Day. For further information, call 721-7044.

Letter-writing campaign begins for soldiers

BY LAURIE HUMPHREY
ANP Staff Writer

As the holiday season draws near, stores reflect the change with more and more Christmas merchandise finding its way to the shelves.

At least one local resident cannot fully enjoy the upcoming season because it signifies yet another Christmas that American soldiers will be forced to spend their holiday in a foreign place.

Hoping to make a difference for soldiers stationed in Somalia, Catherine Novak of Canton works to boost morale by undertaking a letter writing campaign.

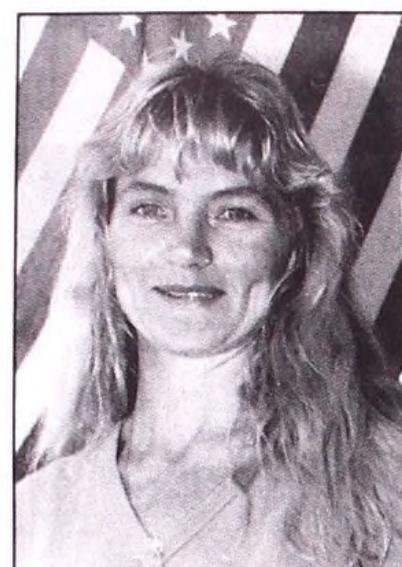

"With the holidays coming up, I'd like to do a little something for the soldiers," said Novak. "If they're going to be over there for six months, I want them to know that we are thinking about them and that we love them."

Novak is a pro when it comes to letter writing. She had several pen-pals stationed in Saudi Arabia during Operation Desert Storm.

"I would send those soldiers letters, care packages, anything I could to make them feel better," Novak said. "It was like a full-time job keeping up with all my pen-pals."

Although Novak spent thousands of dollars shipping items to the soldiers in Saudi Arabia, she felt it was a small price to pay compared to the happiness her gifts brought the men.

"I would get letters from the boys telling me how much my letters and gifts meant to them. It boosted their morale so much just to know that someone cared about them," she said.

After hearing more soldiers were being deployed for Somalia, Novak contacted the National League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing Persons in Southeast Asia in Washington D.C. to obtain an address so that she could begin correspondence.

The director of the National League indicated letters would not reach soldiers because there was no staff to route mail to the appropriate place.

Novak is currently trying to reach local elected officials who might help make it possible to contact U.S. soldiers in Somalia.

"We made such a big deal about Desert Storm and more boys will be killed in Somalia," emphasized Novak. "I think it's important to let Lock up a rising rate with a CD that won't lock you in.

A guaranteed rate increase with a no-penalty withdrawal option every six months.

Whichever way interest rates might go, the Rising Rate CD is a smart investment bet. Because if interest rates remain flat or drop, you'll still get a guaranteed raise in your CD rate every six months. But if interest rates begin to climb, the Rising Rate CD gives you the liquidity to pull out once every six months without penalty.

The rate earned for each six-month period rises as the chart above indicates, climbing to a 5.0% APY during the final six-month period.* You have the option of withdrawing all of your investment within the first ten days of any six-month interval. Or you can take out any portion of it as long as a $1,000 balance is maintained.

The Rising Rate CD. The liquidity you want, the guaranteed interest growth you need. To open yours for as little as $1,000, call or visit any participating bank office.

Local students become pizza makers for a day

An education and job experience definitely bring many rewards.

Hicks Elementary School officials in the Wayne-Westland School District recognize that concept, and recently students were able to receive a little on-the-job training during an outing at Pizza One at 5756 Merriman Road in Wayne.

Pizza One Manager Brian Frazier and Assistant Manager Jesse Manska opened their doors to the students last week and showed them what it takes to run a pizza establishment, including the making of the pizzas.

Some of the students participating included Mike Reich, Tyrone Hall, Steven Miller, Crystal Pope and Leon Jurecyk.

Hicks Principal Lillian Vojak and teacher/consultant Judy Muller organized the outing and were very impressed with the words of wisdom Frazier offered to the students.

"It took me a year to be a manager of this store," Frazier said. "I told the kids that if they can obtain a high school diploma, what took me a year to achieve, they can take in one day."

"I wanted them to understand that it is important to stay in school and graduate. I wish I could have. I'm thinking of going back to get my diploma."

The students arrived early in the morning. They washed their hands and assisted with making the bread for the pizza.

"I think this is such a terrific idea for the children," Muller said. "This helps them to understand what it means to be an employee. It also shows them that it takes hard work and a good attitude to succeed."

"When we go back to the classroom, we'll go over how they can order a pizza over the phone and look at the total cost."

All the students were given the opportunity to make their own pizza. Reich said he likes his pizza with only sauce and cheese.

"The hard part was putting on the sauce so you get it all around the corners," Reich said.

Hall said he has made a pizza before, and he really enjoys it.

"It was during my sister's birthday at Pizza Hut where they let us make our own," Hall said. "I like putting the dough out on the pan and then molding it."

Hall said he could eat about three to five pieces of pizza at one sitting.

After the students selected their favorite ingredients from more than 20 toppings, Frazier placed the pizzas into the oven. When the unique creations were completed, Frazier gave the pizzas to the students as a gift.

"I recently became a manager of this store, and I wanted to get to know the community a little better and the schools in the area, and I thought this would be the best way to do it," Frazier said.

those soldiers know that we haven't forgotten about them and support them, even if we don't support the government's decision to send them there."

As the holidays draw near, Novak is concerned morale of soldiers in Somalia will worsen resulting in the loss of more lives.

"Not only will they miss spending Christmas in America, but a lot of the soldiers don't have families. I don't want them to think that nobody cares about them," the Canton woman said.

"It was such a thrill to go to the mailbox during Desert Storm and see the letters sent by soldiers," Novak said. "And when I talked with one of the soldiers on the phone during a rainstorm, he told me how much he appreciated the sound of rain and how he was looking forward to hearing it when he returned home."

School board consolidation suggested

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Although no specific part of Gov. John Engler's education reform plan directly challenges the existence of local school districts, area boards of education are viewing his plans with caution.

In one of his cost-containment proposals, Engler calls for administrative reform "like eliminating the vast majority of millage elections; like establishing a boundary commission to review and reorganize the crazy patchwork quilt of education and human-service agency boundaries; and like issuing an executive order to move some functions out of the State Department of Education so they become more sharply focused on their mission - education quality."

However, in a recent speech, Wayne County Executive Ed McNamara frankly expressed his view that there should be fewer school districts.

"We need fewer districts, fewer superintendents and a standard education policy," McNamara told a gathering of business people. "We have 600 school districts in the state and each one has a superintendent, a director of curriculum and other directors. I'm not criticizing the teacher who makes $59,000 per year and who teaches 28 to 30 students, but we can't afford to duplicate administrators in each of the state districts."

The Michigan Prospect for Renewed Citizenship (MPRC) recently called for a four-principal education reform plan, which incorporates the consolidation of the 558 Michigan school districts.

In his proposal for reform, MPRC consultant Stuart White said, "Educational reform must reduce the administrative duplication born of a 19th century version of local control."

"The expense of administering 558 school districts, each with its superintendents, principals and other administrators can not be justified in this age of corporate 'right sizing' and quality management, where customer satisfaction not career ladders dictates management policy and scope," White said. "If one-third of 1.6 million students live in less than 5 percent of the state's redundant K-12 school districts, then the remaining two-thirds can be adequately governed by regionally elected school boards with constituencies approximating the size of urban school districts. Parochial self-interest can not be allowed to waste the savings in administrative costs that could be spent to improve the quality and equity of education."

Education reform also should include quality control in the classroom with rewards for teaching excellence, equitable school financing and expanded adult involvement with public education, he said.

Quote of the Week

"They say education is expensive, but we spend $33,000 per prisoner when we're not even spending $5,000 per student."

State Rep. Justine Barnes responding to the Oct. 18 Wayne-Westland School District millage failure.

Of Note

Retarded woman assaulted by relative

A Westland man was determined to be competent to stand trial on charges that he sexually assaulted a 34-year-old mentally retarded female relative on June 20 at his Farmington Road home in Westland.

James Vincent Sisler, 37, was bound over to Detroit Recorders Court for trial on one count of third-degree criminal sexual conduct after waiving a preliminary examination before Westland 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos on Thursday.

Sisler, who is described as having a learning disability, is accused of sexually assaulting the woman after picking her up from a group home in Detroit and bringing her back to his home, Moore said.

Sisler is being charged based on the fact that the victim is mentally retarded and not because of incest, Moore said. Moore added that the incest law does not apply to adult victims.

If convicted, Sisler could face up to 15 years in prison.

Westland Shopper reports theft

A 36-year-old Westland woman was robbed of $150 cash on her way into the Target store located at 35401 Warren Road in Westland, Westland police Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

The woman told police she was walking toward the store with her daughter, who was skipping in front of her, when a man pressed an object against her back and demanded her purse telling her not to turn around, Stobbe said.

The robber allegedly dumped the contents of the victim's purse on the ground, took the $150 cash and fled on foot in an unknown direction. There were no witnesses to the crime and police have no suspects at this time.

The alleged perpetrator is described as a black male, approximately 20 years of age, 6-feet-tall, weighing 180 pounds, with a 3-inch pony tail, wearing a long green army shirt, light blue jeans and black and purple high top tennis shoes.

Belleville Rotary honors 3 judges

An Oct. 26 Belleville Rotary Club meeting will honor the three 34th District Court for their services to the community.

Judges William Sznis, Henry Zaborowski and Felix Rogalle will be presented with Rotary four-way test banners for their courtrooms and certificates of recognition by the Rotarians.

Special speaker for the meeting will be Michigan Supreme Court Justice Conrad Mallett Jr., who will address issues of importance in judicial and legal areas in the state and nation.

The Belleville Rotary Club meets at 6:15 p.m. Tuesdays for a dinner meeting in the fellowship hall of the Belleville United Methodist Church. Interested individuals may make dinner reservations for the Oct. 26 meeting by calling 699-4678.

Was murder victim a police snitch?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Was Alvin Snead a police snitch or a small-time drug dealer who paid a drug debt with his life? The questions may be answered on Wednesday in 22nd District Court when the first-degree murder examinations of four men - two former local football stars - resumes.

Attorneys for the four defendants: Ivory Burks, 21, Eric Thomas, 20, Orlando Brown, 21 - all of Inkster - and Carlos Brintley, 22, of Detroit asked for and received a request from Judge Sylvia James that the hearings be postponed so that they could study the dispositions.

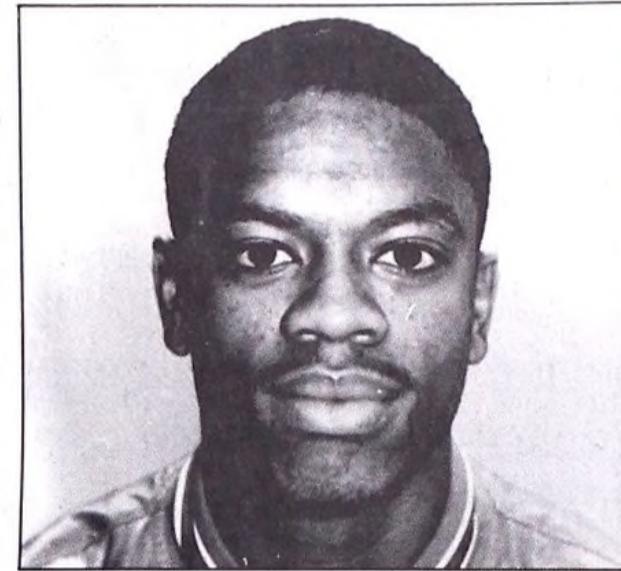

James agreed to the postponement and adjourned the case until 9 a.m. Wednesday. She ordered the four defendants held, without bond, in Wayne County Jail until their next court appearances.

The four defendants are accused of first-degree murder and felony firearm in the gunshot slaying of Snead, who was killed Aug. 12 while sitting behind the wheel of his vehicle on Penn Street, just west of Beech Daly, in the southwest section of the city of Inkster.

Burks and Thomas were outstanding football players at Robichaud High School in the Westwood School District and were named to the Suburban Athletic Conference and All-area teams.

Police believe that the four defendants were responsible for Snead's death. They deny, however, that he was a police informant.

"That is bad information and I don't know how it ever surfaced," said Inkster Detective John McGruder, who is in charge of the investigation.

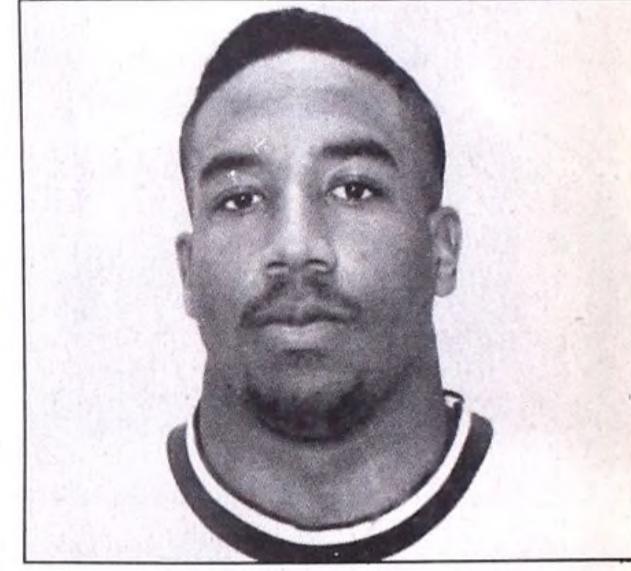

Eric Thomas

McGruder said a the motive for the slaying may have been a drug debt.

"But, right now, this case is in the courtroom and I can't comment on it any further."

What is known is that during the early morning hours of Aug. 12, Snead was sitting behind the wheel of a car that was parked on Penn. Inside the car there were two other men - one in the front passenger seat, and a second suspect in the back seat, directly behind the victim.

Two other suspects stepped out of the fog from behind the car. They approached the vehicle from the passenger side and shots rang out. Snead slumped over on the wheel of the car and was dead at the scene.

The two other occupants in the car were not injured from the gunfire.

Was Snead set up?

"I can't answer that," McGruder said. "Some of this may be cleared up at the hearing."

What led police to the four defendants?

"We received some anonymous tips that were followed up," McGruder said. "Two of the defendants came to the station and surrendered with their attorneys after the word got out that we were looking for them."

Hee haw Local mule owner dispels myths

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

Next time you refer to someone as "stubborn as a mule" or "mule-headed," remember that some people believe it to be a compliment.

"Mules are very intelligent - more so than horses," said mule owner Jan Henderson of Sumpter Township.

"They have an undeserved reputation for being stubborn. Actually, a mule will do anything you want him to do, unless he believes it is hazardous to him, and then he won't do it no matter what you do," said Henderson. "For example, you could ride a horse into a wall or into a barbed-wire fence, but a mule wouldn't do it. And, if a mule is hitched to a team, he will stop if his harness breaks and wait for the driver to fix it. A horse wouldn't do that."

Henderson said once the owner makes the mule understand that the command won't result in harm to him, he will comply.

"I've had horses for years, and about 10 years ago I got interested in mules and decided to purchase one," Henderson said. "I ran across a mule who wasn't responding well to his present owner - and vice versa - and decided to give it a go. After six weeks, I made up my mind that I wouldn't have another horse. He responds to voice signals to go left and right and can be told when to make a sharp turn."

Little Richard is 13 years old and could be ridden or driven through his late 30s. Henderson expects him to retire at 40 and live for another five to 10 years.

See MULE page A-4

Little Richard has a lot of charm and intelligence according to owner, Jan Henderson, who geared him up in his best harness and tassles for a photograph. The mule earned several blue and red ribbons at the Michigan State Fair, and is training along with horses at Winterlong Stables in Sumpter Township. ANP photo by Joan Dyer-Zinner

Guilty verdicts issued in Summit Motel murders

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A circuit court judge on Tuesday found three men guilty of first-degree murder in the March 2 shooting deaths of two Westland men and a Garden City woman at the Summit Motel on Michigan Avenue in Inkster.

Judge Terrance Boyle set a sentencing date for Nov. 3. The defendants - Malcolm Potts, 31, his nephew, Clyde Potts, 17, and Donnell Matthews, 19 - all of Inkster - were returned to the Wayne County Jail.

Boyle found the three defendants guilty of felony murder, assault with the intent to murder and rob, and breaking and entering. The convicted killers could receive life sentences, without parole.

A fourth defendant, a 14-year-old juvenile, is presently incarcerated for his role in the slayings. He is in the Wayne County Juvenile Detention Center.

Killed at the motel were Michael F. Torossian, 35, John Hines, 36, both of Westland and Denise Lynn Dolphin, 36, of Garden City.

Families of the victims were in the courtroom when Boyle announced the verdicts. None wished to discuss the verdicts until the defendants were sentenced, they said.

However, Inkster Detective John McGruder, who was in charge of the investigation, said he was pleased with the verdicts, "and the families are happy about the outcome of the trial."

All three defendants waived their rights to a jury trial and opted for a bench trial. In a bench trial, the judge decides the merits of the case and the evidence. He decides the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

According to court testimony, one of the survivors of the massacre Desoree Lynn Watkins, told the court that on the evening of the shooting three men burst into the motel she and her three friends had occupied. The men demanded money, and when the occupants said they didn't have any, the men proceeded to spray the room with bullets.

Torossian and Dolphin were mortally wounded, according to her testimony.

Watkins said that she survived because she leaped under a table and played dead.

Watkins told the court that Hines, who was in the bathroom at the time the gunmen forced their way into the room, begged for Dolphin's life after he entered the room. His plea was met with gunfire, the witness said.

It was the second time in recent years that three persons had been killed at an Inkster motel.

On July 7, 1987, three Inkster police officers - Sgt. Ira Parker, officers Daniel Dubiel and Clay Hoover were gunned down at the Bungalow Motel attempting to arrest Alberta Easter and her three sons. Dubiel and Hoover went to the motel to arrest Easter for issuing a bogus check. They were later joined by Parker.

Easter and her three sons are presently serving life sentences in Michigan jails.

Praise abounds for area mother-in-law

According to the contents of our mail box, comedians and cartoonists need to drop their negative images of mothers-in-law and replace them with more angelic symbols.

In response to our request for nominations for the Mother-in-Law of 1993, we received dozens of letters outlining the positive attributes of area mothers-in-law. Although we believe all of them merit honor and recognition, we were limited to naming one winner and four runners-up.

Canton Township resident Robert Green wrote that his mother-in-law, Pat Franks, is the exact opposite of the stereotypical mother-in-law.

"I have been married to her daughter for nine and one-half years, and have nothing but good stores to relate," Green said. "Pat has always taken a special interest in our family. We get together on a weekly basis, either sharing yard chores or painting and wallpapering. Many times we simply get together to enjoy the company."

Others who are worthy of special recognition are:

Ilene Sands, whose daughter-in-law, Sandra Sands of Wayne, said she "never has taken sides and never said 'I told you so.'" Wayne resident Donna Prieskorn, a recent mother-in-law herself, who aspires to be warm and loving like her mother-in-law, Margaret Prieskorn. Betty Kentala received a nomination from her daughter-in-law, Julia Kentala of Wayne, who "feels free to confide in her and know that she won't judge me, but will listen with her heart."

Elizabeth O'Connell of Belleville nominated Barbara O'Connell, who she said has "bestowed upon me all the kindness, truth, understanding, consideration and unconditional love as if I were her own flesh." Margaret Adams of Willis nominated her mother-in-law, Kathryn Adams, who now resides in St. Helen, Mich., who was "ready to give a hug when needed" and who has been her special friend.

Romulus resident Vicki Burrell said her mother-in-law is "a big sister, a friend, someone who listens" and is patient and kind. Heather VanLoon of Romulus praises her mother-in-law, Patricia VanLoon, who is "a beautiful person and gives 100 percent of herself to anyone and everyone." When nominating her mother-in-law, Bessie Wallace, her daughter-in-law Marion Wallace called her "kind, thoughtful, funny and very wise. She loves her family and lets them know on a regular basis with her actions and words."

Love bridges distance for close-knit family

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
News Editor

When Leslie DeVos of Van Buren Township penned a letter nominating her mother-in-law, Dorothy DeVos, as the best Mother-in-Law of 1993, she didn't tell any family members about it.

"I did it for myself, because I respect and admire her so much," said DeVos. "Later, I told my husband about it, and he thought it was a nice gesture."

Although her mother-in-law lives in Grayling, DeVos keeps close to her through frequent visits.

"We see each other often, maybe every other weekend. We don't let the distance become a barrier," she said.

DeVos said her father died when she was 17, and her family lacked closeness.

"I had always yearned for a mother-daughter relationship, and my mother-in-law has provided me with that," she said. "In the past 10 years that I have been married to her son, my mother-in-law has given me so much that I will always have a special place for her in my heart."

DeVos said her mother-in-law has given her unconditional love.

"She has given me a sense of pride in myself as a mother, a wife, a career woman and a student. She gives me strength in my determination to be the best I can be, and provides me with encouraging words when the road becomes bumpy and gives me that special card when I succeed," DeVos said.

She also noted that her mother-in-law is helping her to search for her brother who was adopted when Leslie was five.

"She has written many letters to agencies and made many phone calls on my behalf because it means so much to me. Although we haven't found him yet, she had given me so much support and hope,"

DeVos said. "I feel my mother-in-law deserves this precious honor for all that she gives me from her heart. I hope this gives her some joy that she has given me."

"As a provider of guidance, she has not always been correct, but she's always given us cause to stop and think, therefore, we were all able to survive intact."

Wayne mother-in-law nominated by 5 sons-in-law

For the five sons-in-law of long-time Wayne resident Marjorie Mae Witkowski, their mother-in-law is tops.

"How would you like to have a wealth of knowledge, a wealth of love and caring, a wealth of inspiration and support available to you? Well, we have, and all of the above is provided to us by our mother-in-law," their letter stated.

Witkowski said her five daughters mean everything to her, and when they all got married, they not only provided her with an addition to the family, but they gave her "the best sons anyone could ask for."

"I try to tell them what is best, and I love my sons-in-law the same as my own children," Witkowski said. "I try not to interfere. They are all a great bunch of children."

The sons-in-law informed The Associated Newspapers that Witkowski has always been a strong support system for them whenever there was a crisis or reason to celebrate.

"We have listened and learned, and we have taken her criticism and grown from it because it was delivered with love, compassion and concern," the letter states. "As a provider of guidance, she has not always been correct, but she's always given us cause to stop and think, therefore, we were all able to survive intact."

"She bore her first child in 1944 and her last in 1965. She has witnessed 88 years of marriage (spread amongst her five daughters). She has 13 grandchildren who adore her."

The letter added that Witkowski "came from little, gave a lot and simply became love."

Wayne Westland millage defeat leads to alternate plans

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne-Westland School board members discussed their alternatives Tuesday night following the defeat of a 6-mill request Monday.

"The next stop is Lansing to talk with the legislators and convince them the governor's bill is not right," Wayne-Westland Superintendent of Schools Dr. Larry Thomas said.

Thomas said he is trying to convince representatives in Lansing that Gov. John Engler's proposed educational reform plan is not equitable to school districts around the state.

Thomas discussed the inequities between districts that spend more money per pupil compared to districts that spend less.

"The bill gives more to haves and less to have-nots. It's not fair. Districts that spend over $6,500 will have the right to go to their community and ask for more money," Thomas said.

"I asked them to reverse the formula. They should give $6,500 to the poor districts and $4,500 to the rich. They should at least give us a chance," Thomas added.

Thomas said the proposed education reform plan will benefit few school districts.

"There are 35 school districts in the state that can go for new mills," Thomas said.

Board trustee Mathew McCusker expressed his concern over the proposed education reform plan.

"The bill gives more to haves and less to have-nots. It's not fair. Districts that spend over $6,500 will have the right to go to their community and ask for more money. I asked them to reverse the formula. They should give $6,500 to the poor districts and $4,500 to the rich. They should at least give us a chance."

"Nobody has any idea what we're doing in Lansing. My greatest fear is they'll put all the burden on the voters," McCusker said.

Although the proposed millage increase would have increased per pupil spending by $615, the State Aid Act has provided the district with enough money to restore secondary transportation, elementary expressive arts and 50 percent of the media clerks. The district will receive between $2 and $3 million in state aid funding for the 1993/94 school year.

"Our greatest concern is the support of education in our community and the state. The millages are going down throughout the entire state," Thomas said.

Board President Francis Winter suggested the board develop a Blue Ribbon Advisory Committee by the beginning of next year.

"Our school district has a lot of complex problems that don't have simple solutions," Winter said.

Winter suggested the board members gather a group of people representing various areas of the community, such as business, service organizations, parent and teacher groups and district unions to get their input. This group would advise the board how residents feel about school issues, Winter said.

Student assaults principal, threatens 14-year-old girl

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A 16-year-old John Glenn High School student was charged with felonious assault and assault and battery after punching one John Glenn assistant principal and kicking another, Westland police officer Scott Hall said.

The teen was taken to a youth home pending trial in juvenile court on the charges and felonious assault and felony firearms charge after holding a gun to a 14-year-old girl's head at Westland Bowl, located at 5940 N. Wayne Road, during the late evening hours of Oct. 10, Westland police officer Debra Matthews said.

The second incident occurred around 10:45 a.m. on Oct. 13 when the youth was brought to the school office for being in an undesignated area of the school during school hours.

After being notified of his suspension, Hall said, the youth became angry and picked up a wooden chair threatening assistant principals Marie Pleuss and Michael Bartley.

When both administrators attempted to stop the youth from leaving the office, the student kicked one of them and punched the other, Hall said. Both administrators suffered bruises, but were not seriously injured.

The youth's case will be heard in Wayne County Juvenile Court. If convicted, the maximum sentence the youth could face is to reside in a juvenile home until the age of 18.

Henderson both rides and drives Little Richard, and is now seeking a matched mate to make a wagon-pulling mule team.

"Mules are more sure footed and hardier than horses. They are a cross between a horse and a donkey, and, like all hybrids, they tend to be more hardy than either of its parents," Henderson said. "They don't get colic or other common illnesses that horses get, and they are almost exclusively used in rough terrain because of their sure-footedness."

Westland man awaits arraignment on assault charge

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

A Westland man bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court on breaking and entering charges, waived his right to a preliminary examination Thursday before 18th District Judge C. Charles Bokos on an assault with intent to commit murder charge.

Darryl Denard Jackson, 22, was bound over to Detroit Recorder's Court on the assault charge and continues to be held on two $15,000 cash bonds.

Jackson appeared before 18th District Judge Gail McKnight on the breaking and entering charges on Oct. 14. During the exam, Jackson was charged with the assault after testimony was heard from the alleged victim.

Jackson is charged with robbing the home of a 27-year-old woman, with whom he shares a 20-month-old daughter, at approximately 2:50 a.m.

Oct. 5.

Jackson allegedly entered the home located on the 32000 block of Ottawa and the woman told him to leave. Jackson obliged, but returned again at 4:45 a.m., the alleged victim testified.

The woman said she was awakened by Jackson, who was in her son's room holding the child's piggy bank. According to police reports, Jackson threatened to harm her children, ages 5, 7 and 20 months.

"I tried to stop him. He put his hands around my neck and began choking me," the woman testified.

The alleged victim said Jackson threatened to kill her and dragged her downstairs while choking her. The couple got as far as the kitchen sink, when the woman, who had been washing dishes earlier that evening, reached around her back and grabbed the knife.

"I grabbed the knife and stuck him in the hand," she testified.

Jackson allegedly ran upstairs and the woman followed, fearful her children would be harmed, according to testimony. A fight again ensued in the upstairs bedroom where Jackson allegedly beat the victim with objects in the room.

"He wouldn't stop. He beat me with my son's TV stand and then his basketball net," she testified.

Jackson allegedly smashed the child's bedroom window and threatened to throw the woman out the second-story window.

The woman's son alerted neighbors during the attack and police were notified.

When officers arrived, the victim told police, "I had to stab him to protect my children."

If convicted, Jackson could face up to 15 years in prison for the breaking and entering charge and up to life imprisonment for the assault charge.

Romulus residents expected to put lid on well project

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Angry and fearful residents are expected to pack the 7:30 p.m. Romulus City Council meeting tomorrow to press their demands that work be stopped at the $6 million environmental well project.

The council last Monday ordered City Attorney Barry Seifman to file for an injunction to halt any further action on the well "until Environmental Disposal Services (EDS) begins to work within the city's regulation system," Mayor Beverly McAnally said Thursday.

The 40-foot well has already been dug on the 16-acre property owned by John Ryznar, but still needs federal Environmental Protection Agency and state Department of Natural Resources approvals to begin injecting waste into the well.

Plans called for the well to begin accepting liquid waste next spring.

The city ordinance officer Steve Banko has issued EDS President Douglas Wicklund with citations for three reported ordinance violations, which are answerable in the 34th District Court on Nov. 1, the day before city elections.

Tom Heimberger, co-chairman of a unnamed citi-residents don't want other town's junk deposited in our city," Council candidate Mary Collins said.

Heimberger said the group he represents wants to be assured that the council will press the action against EDS just as strongly after the election, as they are doing two weeks before it.

Another group meeting is slated for 7 p.m. Oct. 26, Heimberger said, and "we hope it will be at the VFW, but it hasn't been confirmed yet."

McAnally complained the city has prepared about "20 pounds of printed material" on the ongoing environmental well issue at the request of the protestors, but they had not been picked up as of Thursday.

Heimberger, when informed of the materials, vowed he or a representative would pick them up Friday. McAnally said the materials were copied at a heavy cost to the taxpayers and hoped that the group would be responsible enough to pick up the materials demanded under the Freedom of Information Act.

The environmental well debate has heated up an otherwise dormant city council campaign, which features six incumbents and three challengers for seven council seats.

Westland mental patient faces charges in stabbing

When the victim turned around, he saw Williams with a knife in her hand and the victim ran off fearful of being stabbed again.

Williams has been in Northville Psychiatric Hospital on and off during the past 15 months for treatment, Westland police Sgt. Russell Nowaczek said.

After a psychiatric examination, Williams was determined to be competent to stand trial. However, Williams attorney, Stephen Remski intends to file an insanity plea to the charge.

Williams is accused of stabbing the Westland man, who was a counselor at the former Wayne County General Hospital, now Westland Medical Center, located at 2345 S. Merriman Road in Westland, Nowaczek said.

Williams was allegedly sitting on a park bench near the building with a bowling bag on June 19, 1991. The victim walked past Williams at approximately 5:30 p.m. and felt a sharp pain in his shoulder, Nowaczek said.

Williams is accused of stabbing the Westland man, who was a counselor at the former Wayne County General Hospital, now Westland Medical Center, located at 2345 S. Merriman Road in Westland, Nowaczek said.

Prosecuting attorney Maria Petito said there was no relationship between the victim and Williams and that Williams stabbed him in the back because she thought he was a demon.

If convicted, Williams could face up to four years in prison or a $2,000 fine.

Single business tax exemption hike proposed for business

The allowable single business tax (SBT) exemption for Michigan small businesses will be increased from $100,000 to $250,000 under legislation introduced last week in the state House, said Rep. Deborah Whyman, who co-sponsored the bill.

The Canton Township Republican said House Bill 5090 will help protect small businesses, especially those consisting of one or two professionals.

The issue has gained strong bipartisan support in the House.

"The single business tax is unfair to small businesses," said Whyman, a member of the House Tax Committee. "It amounts to double taxation. Anything we can do to eliminate this tax will be beneficial."

The tax rate is based on business income, compensation, interest paid and depreciation, with deductions for new capital investments and number of employees.

Whyman would like to see this measure added to Gov.

John Engler's tax restructuring plan for education. Under the governor's proposal, the single business tax rate is increased from 2.35 percent to 2.85 percent. The increase is expected to raise $419 million for schools in fiscal year 1994-1995.

"Unfortunately, with this increase we are hurting those companies that can least afford it," Whyman said. "Small businesses employ a large number of people and are most responsible for creating many new jobs annually. The SBT increase threatens their livelihood and with it, a substantial part of the economic growth in Michigan."

Whyman added that other changes to the school reform package are likely. "There will be an ongoing debate as we work to finalize the proposal," he said. "It is my objective to encourage discussion so that decisions are made after a thorough examination of the issue."

The bill now goes to the House Taxation Committee for further consideration.

Blueprint unveiled for Postal changes

Letters outlining new corporate guiding principles and a new corporate signature, both personifying the changes in the U.S. Postal Service, have been sent to the 680,000 postal employees.

In his letter, Postmaster General Marvin Runyon praised employees for their commitment to keep the postal system as a vital link in the chain of commerce.

"During the past year, this organization has gone through some difficult, but necessary changes."

"During the past year, this organization has gone through some difficult, but necessary changes."

As a result of the restructuring, nearly 30,000 overhead positions were eliminated without layoffs, the number of officer-level positions were reduced from 42 to 25, and a projected $2.2 billion deficit for the 1993 fiscal year was eliminated, which, in turn, stabilized rates for the fourth year.

The Postal Service "Purpose, Vision and Guiding Principles" was designed to clearly focus the organization on being responsive to customer needs.

It names as its purpose, "To provide every household and business across the U.S. with the ability to communicate and conduct business with each other and the world through prompt, reliable, secure and economical services for the collection, transmission and delivery of messages and merchandise."

Lock up a rising rate with a CD that won't lock you in.

A guaranteed rate increase with a no-penalty withdrawal option every six months.

Whichever way interest rates might go, the Rising Rate CD is a smart investment bet. Because if interest rates remain flat or drop, you'll still get a guaranteed raise in your CD rate every six months. But if interest rates begin to climb, the Rising Rate CD gives you the liquidity to pull out once every six months without penalty.

The rate earned for each six-month period rises as the chart above indicates, climbing to a 5.0% APY during the final six-month period.* You have the option of withdrawing all of your investment within the first ten days of any six-month interval. Or you can take out any portion of it as long as a $1,000 balance is maintained.

The Rising Rate CD. The liquidity you want, the guaranteed interest growth you need. To open yours for as little as $1,000, call or visit any participating bank office.

FIRST OF AMERICA

A bank for life.™

*A penalty may be imposed for early withdrawal other than periods stated above. At the fourth maturity, your CD will automatically renew as a two-year CD. Annual percentage yields shown above reflect the yield for each six-month period separately, and are not cumulative yields. Deposit limits apply. Individuals and sole proprietors only. Rates good as of 10/8/93, subject to change without notice. Limited time offer available at participating banks only. Equal Housing Lender. Member FDIC. Sounding the horn

Celebrity musician continues touring after Tonight Show

Best Wishes
, Da.
Severinsen

When you hear his trumpet sound, you know that the distinguishable style can belong to no other than Doc Severinsen. Best known as the Tonight Show's multi-talented Grammy Award-winning musical director, Severinsen's successful career spans more than 40 years which includes late night repertoire, big band concert appearances, commercials and designing and manufacturing trumpets.

The Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall Volunteer Council is presenting the "Come Blow Your Horn" luncheon featuring Severinsen at 11 a.m. Oct. 29 at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Dearborn. He will also be performing with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra at 8 p.m. Oct. 28, 8:30 p.m. Oct. 29-30, and 3:30 p.m. Oct. 31 at the Detroit Symphony Orchestra Hall, 3711 Woodward.

Severinsen's recent recordings have included the Grammy nominated Once More With Feeling and Merry Christmas from The Tonight Show Orchestra.

His last album, Unforgettably Doc, was released by Telarc in August 1992 highlights Severinsen's musical diversity with the trumpet to the backdrop of the Cincinnati Pops Orchestra.

The Associated Newspapers recently had the opportunity to talk with Severinsen about his first love, the trombone.

"During the summer in my hometown Arlington, Ore., there was a band which used to do a concert every year," Severinsen said. "This one guy had a trombone with all the gold, and it caught my eye. I knew then I wanted to play the trombone, but my dad said I was too small."

"My dad (Dr. Carl Severinsen) was actually my main music teacher when I was growing up. He was also a musician. He played the violin and wanted me to study that as well."

Severinsen had to settle for a trumpet his father found, the only horn available in the small community.

One week later, with the help of his father and a book of instructions, the 7-year-old was so good he was invited to join the high school band.

At the age of 12, "Little Doc" (nicknamed after his father) won the Music Educator's National Contest. While still in high school, he was hired to go on the road with the famous Ted Fio Rito Orchestra.

"I left home when I was only 17 and went to New York," Severinsen said. "At first you get a little nervous and shy when you are performing before a large audience, but after awhile, you get used to it."

"That's the wonderful thing about music though. It gives you a chance to show off what you enjoy most. That's what I worry about with the many cutbacks in the school programs. Kids need to have a spark in their life whether it's athletics, art or music."

After completing his education and serving in the army, Severinsen toured with Tommy Dorsey, Benny Goodman and the Charlie Barnet bands. He settled down in New York as an NBC staff musician in 1949, joining the Tonight Show orchestra in 1962. He became the musical director in 1967.

"I've had many good memories with the Tonight Show," Severinsen said. "I think my favorite memory would have to be when Johnny pulled me aside and told me he wanted me to be the leader of the band for the Tonight Show."

"It was a wonderful show. When Johnny decided to leave, I just thought it was time for me to go, too."

Severinsen is devoted to his music. He practices a minimum of two hours a day. He has been voted Top Brass Player more than 10 times in Playboy's prestigious annual music poll and received a Grammy Award in 1987 for Best Jazz Instrumental Performance-Big Band for Doc Severinsen and the Tonight Show Band-Volume I album.

What keeps this dynamic individual going?

"My career, my music," Severinsen said. "It's a great way to make a living. I enjoy the traveling and meeting people."

When he isn't working, Severinsen said he enjoys cooking at home in California with his wife Emily Marshall, collecting American art and keeping fit with daily runs and workouts.

"I enjoy being with my family and my two dogs and parrot," Severinsen said. "I especially enjoy cooking because it is relaxing to me."

Severinsen said he is looking forward to an adventure trip to Africa with his wife next month when they will celebrate their 20th wedding anniversary.

"It will be the first time I have been to Africa, and the first time I have been married 20 years," Severinsen said.

Tickets to Come Blow Your Horn are $35 (friend), $60 (donor), $100 (patron-preferred seating), $200 (benefactor-includes preferred seating, valet parking) and $500 (co-host which includes sitting with Severinsen).

Cost for the Oct. 28-31 performances are $15, $28, $31 and $50. For tickets for both events call 833-3700 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays.

Helpful, considerate is Inkster mom-in-law

She's always there to be of help. She's considerate. Supportive. And someone who always has time to listen.

These are the words and phrases Sherry A. Hicks uses to describe her mother-in-law, Dosye Ann Thompson, who was selected as Inkster Mother-in-Law of the Year.

"Dosye is the epitome of a wonder mother," writes Hicks. "From the day I met Mrs. Thompson she made me feel I was one of her own children. I call her Mom. There are a lot of unpleasant mother-in-laws out there in this world, but my mother-in-law doesn't fit that criteria."

Hicks notes that Mrs. Thompson helped her with her wedding plans and never interferes in her marriage."

"She doesn't take sides with her son and allows us to resolve our own problems and, and we can always count on grandmother when we need her to watch her grandson. Most of all she has never missed my birthday or wedding anniversaries."

Thompson, an educator who

is employed in the Ypsilanti School District as a teacher, is the wife of George Thompson Jr., the athletic director at Inkster High School.

With her mother-in-law's encouragement, Hicks returned to college to pursue a bachelor's degree in computer science.

"Mrs. Thompson has been a great inspiration to me," Hicks concluded.

Grace Erikson called 'perfect' in-law

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Grace Erikson is the perfect mother-in-law -- she's there when she's needed, but she never interferes with other people's lives unless she's asked, according to her daughter-in-law Libby Erikson.

"Ma is a very supportive person. She's there anytime you need her, but your business is yours unless you care to share it," said Libby Erikson, who has been married to Erikson's son, Ron, for 31 years.

Grace Erikson's mother-in-law philosophy is "mind your own business." However, Erikson added, "If needed, I'm always there to help."

"When advice is asked for, it's always given in Christian love that she has for you," Libby Erikson added.

Erikson, 72, has been a Westland resident for 52 years. She has two daughters-in-law and one son-in-law, two daughters, four sons, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

"She's not at all the mother-in-law joke type or the grandma that spoils the grandchildren until no one but grandma wants to be around them," Libby Erikson said.

"She's like a silent partner she loves." She noted that her mother-in-law provided love and support when her infant son died recently.

Westland resident Esther Ruth Krushlin is described by her son-in-law, Ron Brown of Belleville, as "generous to a fault." He writes that he loves her as he loves his own mother and describes her as "the mother-in-law of a lifetime."

Lucy Green of Westland nominated her mother-in-law, Elaine Green, who is "the smell of a rose, a twinkle of a star and an angel from heaven." Elaine Green, a retired Wayne-Westland school bus driver, "always gives advice gracefully," her daughter-in-law said.

Westland resident Jill Madden wrote that her mother-in-law, Betty Madden, "only thinks of the other person, not herself. She never puts me down for what I do wrong. She stands by me no matter what. You can't get a better mother-in-law than her."

Steve Johnson of Westland thinks so much of his mother-in-law, Brenda Vargo, that he would give up his reclining chair and remote control for her. He considers his mother-in-law as the "dowry" that came with his wife, Sheila. "Brenda is always there for us."

in a marriage. She's the perfect blend of a dear loving person," she added.

Erikson is still close friends with an ex-daughter-in-law because she said she loves her ex-daughter-in-law for who she is, not just because she was married to one of her sons.

"I love them (daughters and son-in-law) because of the type of people they are," Erikson said.

"That really says a lot about her personality. She loves us for us, not because her son loved us," Libby Erikson said.

Erikson said her advice to other mothers-in-laws dealing with divorced children is to encourage both parties not to say negative things to their children about the other parent.

"Parents shouldn't make their kids not like their other parent," she said.

Erikson added that parents should keep in mind that when their children grow up, they'll be able to more fully understand both sides of the story and may resent the negative parent for encouraging them not to like the other parent.

"You can't run the other parent down. The ones who do the running down are the losers," Erikson said.

Daughter-in-law describes Leonard as 'best' man

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Tina Leonard of Romulus feels her mother-in-law, Gerene Hartford, "is the best mother-in-law anyone in the world could ever have."

In her successful letter of nomination to The Associated Newspapers, Leonard said Hartford "has always been there for me through our ups and downs" and "has never done me wrong" through seven years of marriage.

Leonard continues her mother-in-law "always treats me like a special person... I love doing things with her such as going to bingo games and yard sales, talking on the phone or just doing girl things together."

Leonard emphasized, "I don't know what I would do without her because she also is a wonderful grandmother, a hard worker and is very friendly with everyone."

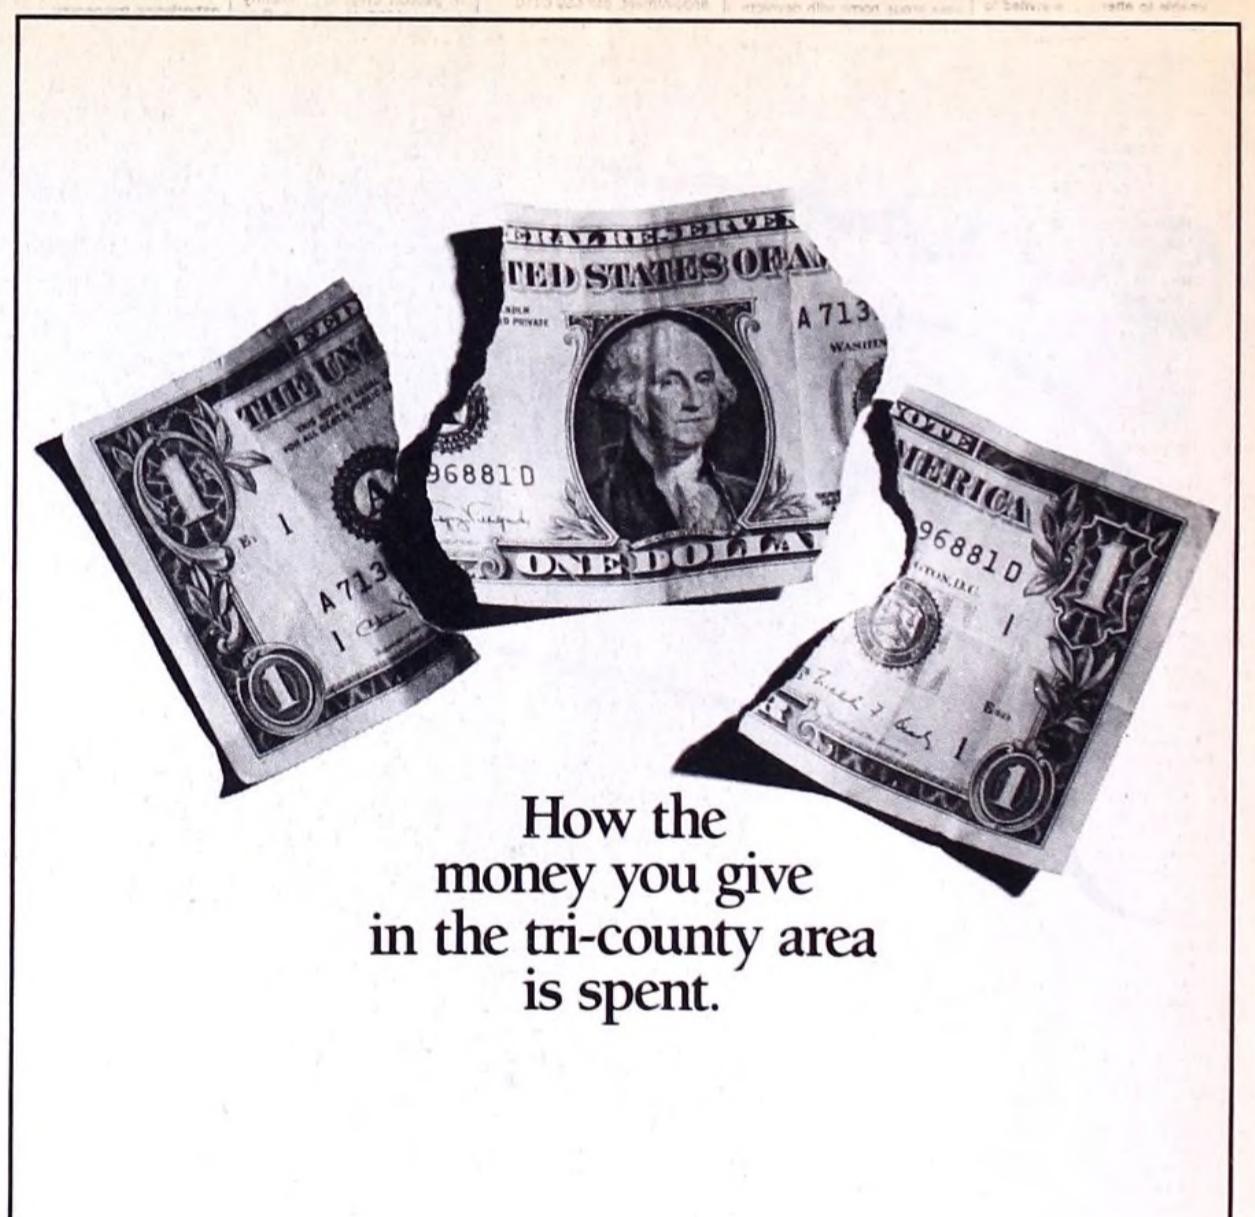

"I cannot over state her caring, kind and loving attitude that has had such a positive impact on our family," Leonard wrote "and I know I will cherish her for as long as I live."

Gerene Hartford

For these reasons, Leonard concluded, "I think she sincerely deserves to win your mother-in-law of the year contest."

How the money you give in the tri-county area is spent.

The United Way spends the money you contribute right here in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties. We support almost 140 charitable organizations that deal with the elderly, the illiterate, the abused, the unemployed and the disabled, just to name a few. The money we raise here stays here in the tri-county area--distributed after a careful review that assures the money will go where it is needed most. Across all three counties. This year, more people need your help than ever before. So, please, won't you give more?

Because, of all the needs we face in the tri-county area, the biggest one of all is your support.

Still the best way to show you care.
